WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Officials disclosed today that inductions into the army were being stepped up to double or triple the peacetime rate, and indications were that the immediate goal was a hard-hitting land force of four million men.

The army is accelerating the induction of present registrants, which include about 1,000,000 already classified as 1A, without waiting to draw from the 9,000,000 men between 20 and 44 inclusive who are expected to register Feb. 16.

No Limits Set
No limit has been set on the war-time size of the army to be sent to Britain and anywhere else the high command may deem advisable. Secretary Stimson says the number to be drawn from the 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 available fit men will be determined by the needs as they arise.

Present strength has been placed at around 1,700,000 officers and men, and plans already under way would increase this to 2,000,000. Appropriations have been made to provide complete equipment for another million and critical equivalent for a fourth million.

Although the war department has issued orders against publication of draft calls and quotas for each area, officials made no secret of the fact that the draft rate was being doubled and might soon be tripled, if such has not already been ordered.

Revised figures on the number of draftees to put in uniform this month and next month from the present pool of registrants will not be announced, but before the United States formally entered the war the combined January-February total had been set at 192,000.

One hundred and fifteen persons, men and women alike, turned out at an organization meeting of local Red Cross first aid classes last night in the High school building.

Organization of classes will follow the registrations as soon as possible, it was indicated. First aid handbooks have been ordered and are expected to arrive shortly.

At least six classes will be formed as a result of the large registration last night. Doctors will serve as instructors.

Formation of the classes is in line with work of the home defense council.

MERCURY MANAGES

Expected Today By Weatherman

Ohioans, besieged for four days by the winter's most bitter cold, warily stuck their heads outdoors today to find the mercury above zero.

In contrast to yesterday's temperatures, which dropped to 20 below in Columbiana county, as reported in an area east of Lisbon, and froze the weather bureau's automatic recording instrument at Columbus, today's readings were around 10 above in nearly all sections.

The temperature was expected to continue rising during the day.

The highway department reported roads in good condition, except for a few icy spots which had been cleared.

Elmer F. Kruse, Ohio chairman of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, said hens wouldn't produce in the extreme cold and that egg prices would rise.

Cleveland city officials said they were forced to discontinue garbage collections because the frozen garbage reduced pickups 50 per cent and containers were being damaged.

The cold weather was blamed for at least two deaths.

Mrs. Emilie Baines, 48, was burned to death at Cleveland when her clothing caught fire from a heater.

Newton Sanders, 35, a lockman, was drowned near Portsmouth when he pushed a rowboat over dam 31 in the Ohio river.

The state welfare department said the sub-zero increased demands of the indigent for fuel and clothing and that poor relief costs for January would rise.

No Commandeering

Of Autos Expected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson issued a formal statement today assuring the nation the government has no plans to commandeer private automobiles and explaining that fears of commandeering undoubtedly arose from his own answers to questions at a press conference January 2.

At that time Henderson said commandeering of automobiles was "one of the gloomy possibilities" that a prolonged war might bring about.

Henderson said today the government "presently is well supplied with automobiles" and added there was no occasion for citizens to offer their cars for public use.

Henderson gave assurance at a meeting of the senate committee investigating small business problems that the government would take steps within existing government framework to protect automobile dealers against direct financial loss as a result of the government's freezing of new car sales.

But, he said, there was no existing machinery to deal with dealers forced out of business or employees put out of work in the future, and it might well be considered by congress.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—A partial reorganization of the Office of Civilian Defense to give a large share of its responsibility to Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school, but with Mayor La Guardia of New York continuing as director, was announced today by the White House.

Landis Is "Executive"

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Landis would have the title of "executive" of the OCD and that he and La Guardia would fashion, in consultation, broad matters of policy.

Landis is to be responsible for the creation of the necessary organization to effectuate the policies decided upon and for personnel to put the policies into effect.

Considerable criticism had developed in congress and elsewhere because La Guardia was retaining both his job as mayor of the nation's largest city and directing the OCD. Many persons had contended he was unable to devote sufficient time to civilian defense needs and yesterday the house voted to turn over funds for civilian defense to the war department.

The house fixed the authorization fund at $100,000,000 but previously the senate passed a bill setting no limit on the expenditure and giving the job of obtaining defense facilities to La Guardia's outfit.

Under such a situation, undoubtedly to be affected by the White House announcement, adjustment would have to be made in a joint senate-house conference committee.

Play Dead While Jap

Soldiers March By

(The following dispatch—by 39-year-old Clark Lee of Oakland, Calif.—is the first received from any of the three Associated Press reporters in the Philippines since Dec. 31, and the first from any American correspondent in the islands since the fall of Manila two days later.)

(Lee apparently was able to evade the Japanese forces which marched into Manila and reach Fort Mills on the fortress island of Corregidor, whence he communicated with San Francisco by radio. His dispatch did not mention his colleagues of the AP Manila bureau, R. P. Cronin, Jr., chief of bureau, and Russell Brinnee.)

BY CLARK LEE

(By Associated Press)
FORT MILLS, Luzon Island, P. I., Jan. 9.—(By Radio) —A strange story came to light today in the adventure of five youthful American soldiers who escaped encirclement by Japanese invaders by a daring ruse in which three of them "played dead" for 28 hours.

The men were Sgt. Emil Morrell and a Sgt. Mitchell, and Privates William Anson, Joe Gillis and William M. Hall, all of Salinas, Calif.

Their unit engaged the Japanese in southern Luzon on Christmas day but was cut off by an invading force which greatly outnumbered them.

Mitchell and Anson made their way through Japanese lines while the other three convincingly played dead. Japanese repeatedly paused over their prostrate forms, and one invader detachment ate lunch within a few feet of them.

All five met in the mills later and made their way over rugged country to rejoin the main United States forces.

YANKS BLAST
JAP BOMBERSDestroy Seven Grounded
Planes in Raid Near Bangkok

(By Associated Press)

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 9.—A small squadron of the American volunteer group roared across the jungle wastelands of Thailand yesterday and bombed Meshod airfield, near Bangkok, destroying at least seven grounded Japanese bombers and probably wrecked an eighth.

This was latest reported stroke of an American flying force under the command of a wiry Louisianan, Col. Claire L. Chennault, who at 51 left a life of retirement to defend the Burma road even before Japan launched her great December offensive in the Pacific and Far East.

The assault appeared to have cost the American volunteer group one plane.

The attack was the second raid of the war on the Thailand capital. Hours earlier the RAF struck at Bangkok's military objectives and reliable quarters said today that the damage to the dock area was heavier than was first believed. Banekok lies at the head of the Gulf of Siam.

Allied aircraft, it was said, released their heavy bomb loads at low level over a restricted area.

The AVG's destruction of seven bombers brought to 53 the total of Japanese planes certainly destroyed by Allied aircraft since the beginning of the war in this area. It is known that 20 to 30 Japanese planes either failed to reach bases after raids on Burma or were probably destroyed a ground.

A program to expand the agricultural output of the islands is in progress, and equipment is on hand to convert sugar—principal product of the islands—into motor fuel for the territory's war machine.

For the time being, the islands are well fixed for food.

This was disclosed by Lieut. General Delos C. Emmons, new commander of the Army's Hawaiian department, in an interview which gave an encouraging picture of the usually-placed islands which were ripped by Japan's sneak opening attack of the Pacific war on Dec. 7.

A new enemy assault "may happen at any time," he pointed out, "but we will not be surprised again—and we will hold the islands."

"We are prepared to meet an attack at any time," he said, "and we are not waiting until the Singapore situation is disposed of one way or another. Emphatically we are stronger now than Dec. 7."

"The islands are the key to this side of the Pacific and losing them would be a serious matter. This is where we will start our offensive. We are working on that idea now. We will not lose Hawaii."

General Emmons said the Japanese "undoubtedly want to attempt another surprise and might make an assault in force. We are ready to meet them and a lot of our men and officers would welcome it. We are pretty sore and ready to go to town."

Lodge members also voted to pay the dues of all members serving with the armed forces.

The lodge accepted an invitation from the Rebekahs to attend a covered dinner and program next Friday, held in honor of Thomas Wilkey, founder of the American branch of the order.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

The outlook continued dark for the United States and British forces battling to hold the Philippines and the Malay peninsula.

In the Philippines the Japanese, pouring in a steady stream of reinforcements to multiply their numerical superiority, massed for an all-out attack against the remnants of General Douglas MacArthur's weary army northwest of Manila.

Rommel's Armies Unable to Get Supplies

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 9.—With its land supply routes under almost incessant assault from the air, the Axis has attempted by sea to provision the retreating Libyan corps of General Erwin Rommel, the British announced today, but the coastwise ships drew a storm of direct hits from the RAF.

"Our air forces operating in support of our mobile columns over a wide area, had a particularly successful day, destroying a number of enemy aircraft in aerial combat," said a general headquarters communiqué.

The supply effort of the Axis indicated that Rommel, falling back onto El Aghelia, at the innermost curve of the Gulf of Sirte, might try to make a stand there if supplies could be assured.

Jap Transport Supply Ships Are Torpedoed

(By Associated Press)
Japan got a preview taste today of the thing she dreads most—a possible blockade of her densely populated island empire—as imperial headquarters acknowledged an allied submarine raid within 100 miles of Tokyo in which the 2,225-ton freighter Unkai Maru No. 1 was torpedoed and damaged.

The nationality of the attacking craft was not given.

Previously, a U. S. navy bulletin reported that submarines of the American Asiatic fleet had sunk a 10,000-ton Japanese transport and three 10,000-ton Japanese supply ships.

The navy's communiqué was the first report in many days from the sizeable undersea force operating in Far East waters at the start of the war.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters said the attack in Japanese waters occurred early yesterday morning off the Izu Schichito Islands, 100 miles south of Tokyo and Yokohama.

Officials acknowledged that the war has been brought to Japan's own doorstep came as the victory-flashed Nipponese boasted of the possibility of outright conquest of the United States.

"The contention that the United States cannot be invaded is much a myth as that which held that the Maginot line could not be taken, or that Singapore and Pearl harbor are impregnable," said the government-controlled Japan Times and Advertiser.

John T. Burns of Salem, county tire coordinator, presided.

At 8 tonight at the Memorial building the committee will discuss rationing plans with tire dealers of the city.

The committee expects to actually begin operations as soon as the rationing organization has been confirmed by state officials. Other members of the group are John Douth, James Primus and H. P. Wykoff.

Waves of Jap Infantry and Tanks Attack Main Singapore Road; British Reported Holding Fast On Slim River Lines

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The British imperial defenders of Kuala Lumpur, capital of the Federated Malay states, have been cut off, the German radio said today, quoting the official German news agency. "Violent fighting" is raging in the Kuala Lumpur area, DNB said.

The agency admitted that the British still held the city but said that the Japanese had cut behind them to sever communications with Singapore, 240 miles to the southeast. "The flank of the British is open only toward Malacca strait," said the broadcast. "From the north, south and east they are encircled and under violent artillery fire."

Reuters recorded the broadcast.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 9.—Waves of Japanese infantry and tanks attacking on the main Singapore road less than 300 miles north of the British stronghold fought a severe all-day battle with British and Imperial troops in the Slim river area yesterday, the British Far Eastern command announced today.

Casualties on both sides were reported heavy.

The decision was not given in the communiqué but earlier reports said the British were "holding fast" on newly-formed lines on the Slim river 50 miles north of Kuala Lumpur, crude rubber capital of the world and Japan's immediate objective.

Of the Slim river action, the communiqué said "our troops were heavily engaged with the enemy all day yesterday."

"After a preliminary infantry assault, the enemy attacked down the main road with tanks, followed by infantry in trucks."

Kuala Lumpur is 240 miles north of Singapore.

Simultaneously the British announced seven casualties in a Japanese night raid on Singapore and said British planes scored several hits on enemy vessels in Malayan waters and the China sea and also narrowly missed a smaller vessel.

THREE JOBS TO DO

The United States must produce weapons to win the war. It must do this without wrecking its financial structure. When the war has been won, it must find a way to finance the cost of winning it.

President Roosevelt's budget message, which even in simplified form is too tough to make easy reading, is concerned chiefly with these three jobs that the United States must perform. In the last paragraph of the message, they were summed up. "I am confident," said the President, "that by prompt action we shall control the price development (inflation) now and that we shall prevent the recurrence of a deep depression in the post-war period. There need be no fiscal barriers to our war effort and to victory."

Producing Weapons

E. J. defense center understands the problem of production. It is basically a job of finding ways to spend money rapidly, which means building factories, machine tools and finding an adequate supply of skilled labor. This entails a great many subsidiary tasks—housing, public services and steps to repress inflation caused by extraordinary demands.

The same thing is taking place in hundreds of communities all over the country. The total of the war orders being placed with their industries, both old and new, is the multi-billion figure used to indicate the cost of the armament effort. It is a less important figure on the whole than the total of the money that actually can be spent—a smaller figure. The government is in the strange position of wanting to spend more money than can be absorbed; the completed part of the production job is not meeting the cost but turning out enough material to match the appropriations congress has been voting. The main thing is to get out the work; the money will take care of itself. "There need be no fiscal barriers to our war effort and to victory."

Repressing the Inflation

Every community and virtually every individual in the United States knows as much about inflation as the most cautious expert in Washington; i. e., they understand that it will raise hob with their own and the government's buying power unless it can be repressed. The obvious way to repress inflation is to diminish the amount of money available for the purchase of goods that are scarce—the circumstances which lead to inflation. Thus, if everybody tries to buy a new automobile battery when batteries are scarce, the per unit price of batteries inevitably will rise. The same thing happening all over the nation affecting hundreds of commodities and products is inflation. Every American community has experienced some of it.

The only known way to diminish the amount of money available for purchase of goods is, of course, for the government to take it, either by means of taxation or borrowing. The government already is doing both—but the public hasn't seen anything yet. In this way and another, the government is going to drain off at least $9,000,000,000 more of public buying power in the fiscal year starting next July 1 than it drained off in the year that started last July 1. "When so many Americans are contributing all their energies and even their lives to the nation's great task," President Roosevelt declared, "I am confident that all Americans will be proud to contribute their utmost in taxes. Until this job is done, until this war is won, we will not talk of tax burdens." Mr. Roosevelt must have been kidding in the last remark; he must know that Americans will talk of little else.

Financing the Debt

The common characteristic of all governments now in existence is that their finances have become so complicated that the people don't understand them any more. By the end of the fiscal year in 1943, the United States will have a public debt of $110,000,000,000. The figure is incomprehensible.

But it will mean an annual carrying charge of 2.5 billion dollars for interest—and that can be grasped, after a fashion. It is more than twice as much as it used to cost to run the entire government in 1917—and today it's only the carrying charge on the public debt.

No one talks any more about paying off the debt. It takes a lot of courage in 1942 to face the prospect of paying the interest. The only way it can be done is to keep the national income at such a high level that the government can raise the necessary where-withal by taxation. There must be no post-war depression, therefore. It is one thing to collect high taxes when the whole country is working seven days a week on armament; it would be another thing entirely to try to collect them in another period like 1933. "Our capacity to carry a large debt in a post-war period without undue hardship," declared President Roosevelt, "depends mainly on our ability to maintain a high level of employment and income."

For those who insist on summaries, here is a one-sentence summary of President Roosevelt's budget message as transmitted to congress on Jan. 7, 1942—exactly one month after the United States was attacked by Japan:

We'll make out somehow, but it's going to take a lot of phlegm and cooperation.

HOW TO WIN THE WAR DEPT.

The air is full of invaluable suggestions for helping to win the war. Soon after the news from Pearl Harbor had soaked in, a foresighted citizen who realized what had happened to the rubber supply called up to suggest that broken glass in the streets heretofore would be more than a sign of sloppy municipal housekeeping. It would be a threat to public security. No one will argue about that.

The other suggestion is seasonal. It's about keeping sidewalks clear of snow and ice. It was submitted by a newly converted pedestrian who decided to save his furs. He almost came a cropper several times, it seems, and thereupon resolved that if there is to be a revival of walking the walkers could be helped along with a little shovel work by householders.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, January 10

CONFLICTING testimonies are shown among the interesting planetary configurations. While there may be augury of great activity in social, domestic, artistic and affectional relations, with good prospect of much success and happiness in these affiliations, there may be some opposition or antagonism from elders, relatives and employers. Strife, enmities, disputes, with impetuous rash and regrettable conduct, may bring sorrow on the pleasant scene and also becloud certain promising business auguries.

Those whose birthday it is have forecast of a promising and exceptionally happy year if they will but place a check on their own tempestuous, reckless, impetuous and jealous conduct and not run counter to the wishes and kindness of their relatives, friends and business associates. Be guided by sound initiative, quickened intuitions and sympathetic rather than sentimental feelings.

A child born on this day while inherently gentle, kindly and amiable, with fine social and cultural instincts, yet may be carried to strife, enmity and recklessness by its impulsive outbursts, unless given early discipline.

A fellow might as well be sick and done to with it as to be forever trying to interpret symptoms.

Our newest definition of an optimist: He is one who spends his last cent to buy a purse.

The Axis powers might as well begin to realize that whenever an American ship is sunk, two will replace it.

The headlines in one of our exchanges say: "Two More Jap Ships Are Sunk by U. S. Subs." Keep 'em Sinking!"

THROAT INFECTIONS DISCUSSED

May Forecast Danger For Children

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The majority of children who become croupy have a benign catarrhal inflammation of the larynx—an inflammation of the larynx with some spasm of the muscles of the throat. The symptoms may range from a transitory hoarseness and some cough, to an alarming stridor or crow on inspiration which usually occurs during the night and is very alarming to parents.

It is well that they should be alarmed, because the early mild condition may run into a much more serious acute laryngotracheitis. The mild condition is usually relieved by ipecac, moist air inhalations and a hot pack. When these simple remedies do not stop that spasm, hoarseness or croupy condition, it is likely to be a swelling of the membrane of the child's trachea or wind pipe, which requires very skillful medical and nursing care.

In other times, before the diphtheria prevention campaign in school children got under way, these severe croupy stridor conditions were usually due to diphtheria. Diphtheria should always be thought of even yet although it is now an anachronism, almost a thing of the past.

Condition May Be Serious

But there is a form of acute inflammation of the larynx and trachea in children not due to diphtheria which may be very serious and even fatal. The germ which causes it is a form of streptococcus. The respiratory distress is caused by the same sort of condition that causes diphtheritic croup, namely swelling and obstruction of the upper respiratory passages so that the child gets its breath with great difficulty.

"No doctor," states one who has had a world of experience, "who has ever seen these cases will regard lightly any case of spasmodic laryngitis or simple croup in a child."

The object of treatment is to keep the respiratory passages open until the acute inflammation subsides. Danger is from asphyxia caused by obstruction in the glottis. The hot, moist inhalations, the anti-spasmodic drugs and the hot packs are all designed to further the relaxation of the respiratory passage.

Modern Methods

Modern methods of laryngology have added an improvement by allowing the doctor to suck up retained secretions from around the larynx and the trachea. We all used to hear stories in the diphtheria days of the mother or the nurse who sucked the mucus from the child's throat, and saved its life. This modern bronchoscopic suction is a scientific adaptation of the old-fashioned practice.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. M. S.: "Is there any cure for hemorrhoids except an operation? After consulting many doctors—'Eventually an operation'—is about all I get. Yet there must be some home treatment."

Answer: Much relief is obtained in mild cases of hemorrhoids by the use of astringent suppositories. But the operations for permanent relief are so easy with modern technique and done under local anesthesia that no one should defer them very long. Everyone who has had an operation for hemorrhoids wonders afterwards why they didn't seek such relief long before.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. PLANETS ON PARADE

Editor, The News:

For those who are interested in the heavens and what goes on amongst the stars, the past few months have been of unusual interest principally because of the presence of the four visible planets on parade that can all be seen at the same hour say 6:30 p. m.

Low in the western sky you will see Venus, brilliant in her soft lustrous light that defies imitation. She would intrigue the aesthetic sense of a wooden Indian. As evening star she will tarry with us but a short time, to reappear again as morning star in the month of February. We know less about her than any of the others for the reason that she is eternally enveloped in dense cloud.

Following the path of the sun in reverse at the time of the summer solstice, we come to the planet Mars. Her decidedly reddish cast makes her easy to locate. The possibility of her being inhabited causes her to be the most discussed planet of the nine.

A few degrees farther East we come to the planet Saturn not quite so bright as Mars but giving off that cold steady light characteristic of the planets. Her rings peculiar to herself make her an interesting astronomical subject.

Still farther East, we can see the great planet Jupiter, the largest of the sun's family of planets, 86,000 miles in diameter, with a density only one fourth that of the earth. The length of a day on Jupiter is but 9 hours 55 minutes. The perimeter of the earth travels 1000 miles per hour while the perimeter of Jupiter must travel 1,336,000 miles per hour. In one of our years of 365 days Jupiter would have 922 days. If the peoples of Jupiter followed the customs and fashions of this lowly planet they would surely some times meet themselves coming back.

Near Jupiter just to the south is the constellation Pleiades, that inspired the prophet Job 4,000 years ago to write "Canst thou bind the cluster of the Pleiades, or loose the bands of Orion?"

Near by is the reddish star of first magnitude Aldebaran in Taurus (The Bull). Looking east and a little south you will see the great constellation Orion, the most conspicuous in the heavens, come booming up out of the Eastern horizon.

Relation of Words, Music Is Discussed

The program on "Poetry into Music," showing the close relation of the two forms of art, enjoyed by members of Beta Sigma Phi society last evening at the home of Miss Martha Krauss on Euclid st., featured vocal, piano and recorded music.

Mrs. B. M. Moore and Miss Krauss were in charge of the program. The former introduced the subject, explaining that music does not require words to accomplish its purpose, but that words are always enhanced by music.

Mrs. H. Rex Hundertmark, illustrating the poem form set to music read the words and sang "Tree" (Joyce Kilmer) and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" (Mrs. J. W. Hundertmark, a guest at the meeting, played her accompaniment.

Miss Krauss, discussing the correlation of words and music, explained the form of poetry without words as the tone poem "Liebestraum" (Liszt), and analyzed the form of the Stephen Foster classic "Swanee River," pointing out rhythm, melody, harmony and tone color.

Recorded numbers analyzed and studied were "The Bolero" and "The Blue Danube." The group sang several kinds of rounds and Miss Krauss played several well known songs, using glass filled with water to produce the notes. Experiments in composition of music concluded the program.

Today's Pattern

TINY YOKED PRINCESS FROCK
Pattern 4990

Now that she dresses herself, she takes more interest in fashion! Teach her good style the Anne Adams way, with a pretty pattern like 4990. The notched yoke is so clever when made of plain contrast with a little Peter Pan collar and button trim, as shown here. Contrast is used for the back yoke too, and there's princess paneling back and front. A little party frock made all of white eyelet, batiste with a square neck and flare sleeves is shown in the upper figure. Lace edging completes the dainty look of this dress. The sash belt is omitted. Let the Sewing Instructor help you make her two charming frocks, one for gay times and one for school!

Pattern 4990 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, dress with collar, takes 1 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 1/2 yard contrast; collarless dress, 1 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric.

LANDIS ASSUMES POSITION IN OCD

Partia' Reorganization of Civil Defense Is Announced

Landis was once chairman of the securities and exchange commission and before that was a member of the federal trade commission. Since 1937 he has been dean of the Harvard law school, a post which he held before he entered federal service. Asked whether Landis would continue as dean, Early said he understood the new executive officer of OCD was making his arrangements now with the university and he did not know what they were.

La Guardia will continue to hold membership on all federal boards on which the OCD now is represented and also will continue to attend cabinet meetings, Early said. He advised Early this morning that he would meet Landis in New York next Monday.

Induction Being Stepped Up to Double or Triple Peacetime Rate

900,000 now are in active service. Selective service officials estimate another 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 could be obtained, if necessary, without dipping into the new Feb. 16 registrants. However, it is likely that many of the latter, especially the younger men, will be inducted early along with the existing eligibles.

New men are not coming exclusively from draftees by any means. The war department said yesterday that December volunteers may exceed 60,000, nearly double the previous record of 39,589 obtained in May, 1917.

Cards are now being printed for distribution to the nation's 6,500 draft boards, in preparation for the Feb. 16 registration. All male citizens and some non-citizens born on or after Feb. 17, 1897, and on or before Dec. 31, 1921, must sign up on that day between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, has estimated that between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000 men fit for military duty would be made available from the three registrations.

Later registrations will be held for approximately 14,000,000 males 18 and 19 years old and for those between 45 and 64, inclusive.

C.S.U. LOSES GILLOM, OTHER GRID TALENT

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—Horace Gilloom of Massillon, counted on to bolster Ohio State university's football offense next fall, failed to return to school for the winter quarter because of scholastic difficulties, Coach Paul Brown announced today.

Gilloom was an outstanding punter and Brown had hoped to start the speedy Negro at a halfback post. Whether Gilloom returns to school for the spring and summer quarters to make up his scholastic deficiencies and attempt to become eligible for football next fall still is uncertain, Brown said.

The Bucks also lost George Cherokee of Shadyside, who was selected by Ohio State coaches as having made the most outstanding progress during the last season. Cherokee, a guard, left school to join the army air corps.

Six sophomore football candidates also withdrew. Gene Henderson of Massillon and Jim Zito of Geneva encountered scholastic difficulties. Marvin Winkitch of Salem was operated on for appendicitis. Mike Oona of Salem was planning to enlist. Ray Beatty of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., joined the marines and Frank Bullard of Cleveland took a job pending a draft call.

That's What a Milk Bottle Gets for Staying Out These Cold Nights

Sub-zero wave, which has swept across midwestern United States, is well illustrated by this common milk bottle which stayed out all night in a Chicago milk chute as the weatherman lowered the temperature hourly. Suggested title, "Icebergs on the Milky Way."

Emerald Embassy by FRANCIS GERARD

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

Cosher and Huff crouched behind a great beech tree as the sound of approaching footsteps grew louder. Then they saw a stout red-faced individual making his way towards Meredith's house. To Huff's astonishment he recognized him as an acquaintance.

"Gerblimey!" he breathed in surprise. "Wot's that there reporter doin' ere?"

"Reporter!" echoed Simms his eyes narrowed. "What d'yer mean reporter?"

"Why?" replied Henry Huff. "I met 'im the other night over at Weyland in the pub. 'Is name's Smith and e's a reporter from Lunnin'."

"And yer swallowed that!" exclaimed Simms speaking with his mouth close to the other's ear. "Why, yer poor fish, e's a dick!"

"A dick!" gasped Huff, looking as though he were about to faint. "Go on," he said hoarsely.

"E was Meredith's assistant for years. E's Sergeant Beef."

"Gawd!" exclaimed Huff. "That copper was questionin' me."

"E was, was 'e?" asked Simms curiously. "As 'e got anything on yer? Wot 'ave yer been... Ebb! Cosher interrupted himself. 'Who's the tall cove wot's just joined old Beef?'"

"That's 'im," replied Huff. "That's Meredith."

"Oh, it is, is it? 'E's a big bloke. 'Yus and yer gettin' a big fee' the other emphasized.

"I'll earn it. Now you cut along. I work better when I don't 'ave no audience. When the job's done, see 'ow you come across with the other 'alf of the money prompt if you know what's good for you."

into a deep chair in the morning-room.

"Well! Well!" exclaimed Beef. "If it isn't my old friend 'arry Simms, the Cosher. How's that there 'leg of yours, 'arry?"

"Quite alright now Sergeant Beef."

Meredith nodded. "Now then, Simms, who sent you?"

"Look, Sir John. Will yer go easy on me if I talk?"

"I can't promise, Simms. I'm not in the police now and you'll just have to take your chance. You know as well as I do that, if you come across with information, it will be considered in your favour but, beyond that, I can make no promise."

"Then I won't say anything," replied the Cosher.

Meredith contemplated Simms in silence for a full two minutes which is a long time. The Cosher shifted uncomfortably under the scrutiny. Presently Sir John turned to Beef and said, "How far d'you reckon it is to Icken marshes?"

Beef, accustomed to his superior's methods, showed no surprise, but replied, "About twenty-five miles."

Meredith nodded. "Get the car Beef. We'll take him there."

"Ere!" protested Simms. "Wot's the game?"

"Have you ever been to Icken marshes?" asked Meredith, his tone quite conversational. "No! Well, it's a big stretch of open moorland that sweeps down to an estuary. There's not a house on it for miles. You could shoot your head off and nobody would hear you."

"Yus. But wot's that got to do with me?"

"You're going there, Simms," nodded John. "And you're not only going to shoot, you're going to talk when I'm through with you."

"Ere!" gasped the other. "You can't do that. I know what powers you... you're bluffin'. Yer wouldn't dare!"

Sir John shrugged. "Have it your own way.... Well, Beef, get the car!"

When the sergeant had left the room, Meredith resumed his unflinching contemplation of the other. It was several minutes by the clock before he broke the silence.

"You use a black-jack, also called a cosh, don't you — Cosher?" he queried. "I'm surprised you've never tried a rubber hose. With that, you can beat a man for a long time without leaving much of a mark. In fact, you can break a man's arm if you hit hard enough. Have you ever seen a rubber hose in hitting action?"

The Cosher swallowed, opened his mouth to speak, but Sir John shook his head.

"I've got one...." went on Sir John eagerly.... "Got it as a souvenir from Phil the Duke's mob that used to work the race courses until put away. I'll show it to you."

From a drawer in the writing desk, Meredith took a foot-length of solid rubber. He bent it in both hands. "Supple as anything," he nodded. He brought it down with a crack across his open palm.

"Deuce of a sting in it!" he observed. "And terrific weight when it's used hard enough!"

Sergeant Beef came back into the room. "All right, Sir John. It's ready. I took the liberty of getting your gun, and screwing the silencer on it."

"Splendid!" murmured Meredith getting up from his chair. "Well, Simms, on your feet! You're goin' places!"

Harry "Cosher" Simms never moved but his fingers gripped the chair's arms so tightly that the knuckles stood out white. "My Gawd!" he breathed. "I've 'eard about... I believe you'd do it, too!"

Sir John regarded him in apparent astonishment. "Do it? He frowned. "Of course, I'd do it!"

After what you've done for years, why should I be squeamish about beating you into a pulp. Come on!"

Cosher shook, tried to speak and, at last, managed to say almost audibly. "Orrright! Orrright! I'll talk."

"I thought you might," said Meredith softly. He seated himself again in the chair facing the other. "Right you are, Simms, now talk! But remember this, if I find you've lied to me in even a detail, we'll drive that twenty-five miles to Icken, and I'll make you sorry you were ever born."

"It's a bet, guv'nor!" breathed Cosher, and talked....

Philip Horton strolled up and down the close-shaven lawn of the little house he had taken in Weyland. His pleasantly ugly face was darkened by an expression of gloom. He drew savagely at a cigarette and flicked the butt over the low wall which separated his rented

COLUMBIANA COUNTY MAN IS ABLE TO GO BACK TO WORK SINCE TONJON GAVE HIM RELIEF

Had Terrible Pains In Arms and Legs in Addition To Pains in the Back of His Neck That Were So Intense He Could Hardly Move. Can Recommend TONJON As Being a Fine Medicine

MR. HENRY HECK

"About six months ago I began to suffer from severe pains in my arms and legs, but TONJON gave me excellent relief," states Mr. Henry Heck, Salineville, Ohio, near East Liverpool.

"I saw TONJON advertised in the paper and the disorders described were so similar to mine that I decided to try it. It has given me the relief I hoped it would and I don't have any more pains in my arms and legs. My muscles used to cramp and the pains in the back of my neck were so intense that I could hardly move. My feet, ankles, legs and hands would swell so badly that I would be unable to work. My kidneys weren't acting normally and every night I had to get out of bed two or three times."

"In a few weeks TONJON relieved all my aches and pains. Since all these ailments have been so pleasantly relieved, I am pleased to tell everyone about the amazing benefits TONJON really possesses. I have no more trouble with my kidneys so my sleep is undisturbed and I get enough rest. I can certainly recommend TONJON as being a fine medicine."

If you suffer from ailments as this man has, then you owe it to yourself to at least try TONJON. Come to the Broadway-Lease Drug Store, Salem, Ohio, and talk to the TONJON Health Representative.

Ski Champ Seized

It was a foul business he had let himself in for, thanks to his infatuation for Anne de Vassignac! He strove to dismiss it from his thoughts but it returned like a boomerang, striking cruelly in the midst of contemplation of a picture of the girl as he had last seen her. Strange that such a creature of fire and passion could be translated in a moment into something approaching a pillar of ice.... so melting one minute, so inflexible the next.

Then there was Norma.... He felt sorry for her but, for all that, she was a positive danger. Twice since the day of his arrival, Norma had been down to Vine Cottage despite his warnings.

A man suddenly appeared framed in the kitchen doorway. He was a queer, ape-like creature, short and squat and immensely broad. Naked to the waist, little rivulets of sweat trickled down the knotted muscles of his torso. He leaned a long-handled, pointed spade against the door post.

"I'm hoping," he said in a Welsh singsong, "that there'll be no doubt whatever in the specifications as you've drawn them."

"They're as accurate as I could make them," replied Horton. "But I've had to guess a good deal as I couldn't risk being seen."

"Indeed to goodness!" exclaimed the other. "It's the strangest job I ever tackled."

"You'll remember what I told you about the wall," said Horton. "Yes, indeed," replied the other,

SALT LAKE CITY—Thousands of pounds of venison graced the tables of western hunters this fall. The Utah Fish and Game department reported that 43,119 deer were killed in the state during this season.

The Fluid Line of Battle

This map shows how close the Nazis were to their objectives before the Russians, aided by the severe winter, were able to turn back the invaders, routing some of Germany's best troops and relieving the three strategic areas. The Germans are reported attempting to dig in for the winter. Their defeats brought on Hitler's taking over personal command of all the Nazi armed forces.

Louis Meets Baer In Return Bout At New York Gardens Tonight

HEAVY FOES READY FOR SECOND BRAWL; JOE 6-1 FAVORITE

Challenger to Outweigh Champ by 41 Lbs; Louis Predicts K. O.

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Jan. 9. — Jacob (Buddy) Baer, having been guilty of knocking champion Joe Louis clear out of the ring in Washington last spring, probably will pay for his sins, with interest, tonight in Madison Square Garden.

This time the towering Californian faces a perfectly conditioned, tight-keened Joe Louis, impatient to wipe out any stigma that might have attached to his victory over Baer last May, when Buddy was disqualified for refusing to come out for the seventh round.

Louis' Impressive
So impressive has the big Negro been in his workouts that the book-makers are offering only 1-6 odds that he is successful in the 20th defense of his world title; 1-2 that he stops Baer inside the 15 rounds. A good even bet is that Buddy doesn't wear as well as he did in Washington.

A crowd of perhaps 20,000 is expected to contribute more than $100,000 to the naval relief society. They are paying a top price of $30.

Louis, possibly making his final ring appearance before induction into the army, isn't getting a cent, nor is Promoter Mike Jacobs. Only Baer is taking a slight cut, for fighting is his means of making a living and he has not been in the big money.

As usual, the referee will not be named until just before the principals enter the ring. Chances are it will not be the most noted of the arbiters, Arthur Donovan, because it was Arthur who disqualified Baer in the Washington battle and incurred the terrible wrath of Buddy's manager, Ancl Hoffman.

Baer No Match For Louis
Despite the fact that Baer propelled Louis through the ropes and onto his shoulder blades with a left hook in the first round of their previous fight, at no time did the ponderous Buddy look like a true match for the champion.

It obviously was a lucky swat that upset Joe, and once he got back on his feet he gave Buddy an awful beating. Baer was helpless, unable to defend himself at the end of the sixth round when Louis hit him a final paralyzing blow after the bell, not having heard the signal because of the uproar.

Buddy was expected to weigh in at about 245 pounds at the athletic commission today, while Louis had planned his training to bring him into the ring between 204-5, the heaviest since he became champion.

BILLIARD WIZARD TO DEFEND CROWN WON LAST WINTER

Willie Hoppe Confident of Victory Against Nation's Best

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO—Billiards' boy wonder 40 years and to day a greater figure than ever in the game, Willie Hoppe tonight will start after the answer to a question many fans — and Hoppe himself — are asking:
Will his game ever again hit the peak it attained the last two years?

The 34-year-old Hoppe, whose wizardry with a cue carried him to his first billiards title 36 years ago, will defend his world three-cushion crown against nine other experts in a tournament to run through Jan. 22.

The field which will swing into action tonight is a good one, but the graying Hoppe appears to be in class by himself. The fans aren't wagering on his chances of winning. They think he's a cinch. But they are wondering whether he'll match or even approach his great three-cushion performances of 1940 and 1941.

In 1940, against the greatest players in the world, he won all 20 of his matches—a feat which for years was considered impossible. Last February he came out of the hospital—after a severe pneumonia attack—to play 17 matches in 18 days and win 16 of them for another championship. In that two-year streak he won 33 straight games.

"My game appears good," Hoppe said as he worked out today, "but you can't predict what your touch will be until you are under tournament fire. It looks like a tough field."

Coming back to challenge the New York titleholder will be Jake S. Haefler, runner-up for two years; Welker Cochran, the San Francisco ace who handed Willie his only defeat a year ago; Ralph Greenleaf, 17 times world's pocket billiards champion; Joe Chamaco, the Mexican star; Art Thornblad of Chicago and Otto Reibelt of Philadelphia, both former champions; and Earl Lookabaugh, Chicago; John Fitzpatrick, Los Angeles, and Art Rubin, New York. Each player will play nine games.

A new rule allowing players to use either cue ball at the start of an inning is expected to speed play and possibly result in a new high run, best game and point an inning average records. The opening program will pit Hoppe against Lookabaugh and Chamaco against Rubin.

PRESSING DEFENSE SEEN AS NEW GAME TO PLEASE CROWDS

Rhode Islanders Satisfy Fans With Peculiar Cage Style

By CLAIR BEE
Long Island University Coach
NEW YORK — In the Rhode Island State gymnasium at Kingston the basketball scoreboard is rigged up to take care of scoring totals which run into three figures.
That isn't just wishful thinking. They often use all three figures when Coach Frank Keane's outfit is moving in high gear. Playing Connecticut two years ago—and both teams were undefeated prior to this game—Rhode Island scored 64 points in the first half!

The final score was 102 to 81!

The Rhode Islanders don't do it with mirrors. Unbelievably they do it with a defense! They call it a "pressing defense." And believe me, brother, it's pressing.

The Phillips 66 Oilers from Oklahoma showed it the first time

THIRD OF A SERIES

I saw it—against an All-Metropolitan team under my direction in Madison Square Garden in 1936. It all but drove the players crazy—and me with them.

This system is just what it implies—a pressing defense that gets the second the opposing team gets the ball and continues at points on the floor until the opponents are forced into an error or a held ball. Then, the minute the pressing defense gets its hands on the ball it bang-bang for the basket from any point on the floor.

Rhode Island State, for instance, used the 260-pound son of Coach Keane to retrieve from the backboard. When he came down with the ball he swished it — almost without looking—at a spot near the far basket and one of his teammates usually hit that spot about the same time as the ball.

"Shoot at the slightest opportunity" is about the only idea behind what little offense there is under this system.

The pressing defense takes standing to the nth degree. It takes clever defense men, opportunists, players strong enough to constantly harass the opposition no matter where the ball may be. The theory is to keep the other team off balance. Players must be coached not to try to steal the ball. That leads to personal fouls. Rather they must force the loss of the ball by error or by a held ball.

This may develop into the "new basketball." Certainly it has crowd appeal—but it takes unusual material and plenty of it!

OHIO TO BE SCENE OF THREE LARGEST TOURNEYS IN 1942

State Nabs ABC Classic, Trapshoot, Rifle-Pistol Matches

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Jan. 9.—Wrapping up a few loose ends of sports this and that:
If you have a favorite date for bowling in the American Bowling Congress here March 3 to May 11, tomorrow is the last day for getting your entry into the A. B. C. office at Milwaukee. A total of 4,733 teams have had dates assigned—and the entry list is expected to set a new record of more than 6500 squads.

That means about 35,000 keglers will descend on Ohio's capital for the pin classic. Dr. Joel Bernhardt, the state's executive committee man, believes the closing date already extended three times will have to be shifted again to take care of the invaders.

Unless the war upsets the program, Ohio will be the scene of sportsdom's three largest tournaments during 1942. The Bowling Congress, with its 35,000 entrants, tops all others by a country mile, while the National Rifle and Pistol matches will attract about 1500, and the Grand American trapshoot about 1100.

Events which will go on regardless of the war include the Inverness four-ball golf tourney at Toledo in June; the Ohio golf association's junior, senior and amateur tournaments; the state public links meet; the Ohio women's and state P. G. A. open; and the second national women's intercollegiate golf tourney.

If you think those Wooster Scots aren't tough in all lines of sports, just take a look at their record for the last decade. In 10 years they have won 516, lost 243 and tied 17. This includes football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis and golf.

Just as they backed Paul Brown for the Ohio State football coaching job, Ohio's high school football coaches are behind another of their fellows—Wilbur Ewbank of Oxford McGuffey—for the Miami University berth vacated recently by Frank Wilton. If he gets it, Brown is a Miami graduate, as is Bob Whitaker, who hopped from the high school ranks to coach at Bowling Green State University a year ago.

CAVALIERS NOTCH FOURTH STRAIGHT; YPCC BOWS, 32-28

D. Readshaw Scores 20 In Demings' Conquest of Catholic Club

The Demings quintet turned back the YPCC last night on the Memorial Building floor, 32-28, as D. Readshaw hooped 20 points to pace the winners in the scoring column. The game was exceptionally rough. The YPCC made 10 penalty shots with six of them being credited to Felix Di Antonio, bulky cornerman.

Di Antonio added a bucket to his six free shots to share scoring honors for the losers with Joe Alberts, both of whom accounted for eight points. The remainder of the Demings scoring was pretty well divided. The Cavaliers added another scalp to their belts last night as they battered the Presbys by a 44-10 count for their fourth win in a row. In the first quarter it was all Cays and "W" Bolinger. He accounted for the first six points in the ball game and for quite a while the score stood: Bolinger, 6—Presbys, 0. At the end of the period, the Cavaliers were sporting a 14-0 lead. The second quarter found Jack "Beanie" Tinsley doing all the scoring for the winners. He flipped in 10 points for the evening for top scoring honors and eight of that total came in the second stanza.

When "Wild Bill" Theiss and Don "Sal" Freed started to hit the hoop, it was curtains for the Presbys. Tinsley led the team in scoring with 10 tallies while right behind him were Theiss with nine, Bolinger with eight and Freed and "Wink" Miller with six apiece.

Paul Bloor led what there was of the Presby attack as he rimmed a bucket and a pair of free shots. The first round is drawing to a close in Class B and at the present the Cadets are firmly entrenched in first place. They have two more battles on the schedule, one with the YPCC and the other with the Salem China. Should they win both of these the round will be over but should they drop one there would have to be a playoff between the Cadets and Demings, who have lost only one game.

Class C Games Moved Up

Joe Kelley, manager of the Memorial Building, wishes to announce that the Church league basketball games previously scheduled for tomorrow afternoon will be played tomorrow morning, starting at 11. The change was made necessary by the fact that a banquet is to be held on the basketball floor tomorrow night. The games will be run off just the way they have been slated.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 9. — (Wide World)—If you like Buddy Baer against Louis tonight you can practically write your own ticket with the betting boys, who aren't doing business.... For the benefit of the navy boys who can't listen in on the broadcast, Mike Jacobs is giving a free copy of the films for shows on shipboard and at the naval stations.

Fastest selling tickets for tonight's scrap were the $30 ones.

Justified Complaint
Walter (Rop) Van Winkle, Miami University (Ohio) basketball coach, went to Cincinnati the other night to scout both teams in the Hanover-Cincinnati U. game. The regular referee failed to show up so Van Winkle was drafted for the job. He got the usual fee but he complained, "I was so darned busy I didn't get much scouting done."

Sportpourri
Abe Green, the N. B. A. president, has asked boxing commissions in the 37 states in his organization to stage benefit shows for the infantile paralysis fund.... Latest reports on the pro tennis tour is that the crowds have been just about half as big as anticipated.... Add hardships of war: The major league baseballers hear from the railroad folks that they won't get lower berths on this year's jaunts.

Service Dept.
Old Sarge Gabby Street, who fought through two wars and innumerable baseball seasons, is looking for someone with influence enough to get him back into the army.

St. Pete Is Camp Site
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Three major league baseball clubs will be in training here for at least a week this spring.

St. Pete is the regular training site for the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals. The Brooklyn Dodgers will pull into the city March 19 for two exhibitions and then stay on while they play five more games in nearby cities.

DUPEEE, S. D.—A white mare owned by rancher Barney Lannen foaled a colt with a six-colored hide—white, black, red, roan, blue and pink. Lannen named it "Rainbow" and hopes to sell it to the next circus that comes to town.
